Odd-fellows' Hall was crowded last night to witness the Acme Dramatic Circle in their first bow to the public. Flattering indeed was the reception they received, and well merited was the applause, which shows that home talent will be encouraged if of good quality. The lady participants we will not mention, on account of a delicary not mention, on account of a delicacy ladies have of seeing their names in print but suffice it to say they all did their parts well, in that modest and unassuming well, in that modest and unassuming manner which makes amateur theatricals so much admired. The humorous readings of Mr. Daniel Ashworth were highly appreciated, as was the Xylophone solo executed by Mr. Henry Affel, who kindly furnished the music for the entertainment free. Mrs. H. H. Potter, a boarder at the Phillips House, is mourning the loss of a fine bunch of plumes, which she lost off her hat last Sunday somewhere on Ludlow street, or on Front street between Ludlow and High. The lady offers a reward. A difficulty, growing out of a business transaction, yesterday occurred in the dry goods establishment of Jackson & Co., in which James Jackson attempted to shoot his brother Richard. Parties present interfered, and nothing serious was the result. The weapon used was a double-barrel shot gun. The load lodged in the ceiling, which was well for Richard. The three brothers, John, Richard and James, were engaged in the fracas. No arrests were made, as Rich-ard refused to make any charge against his brother. So the matter ends for the pres-

LUDLOW, KY. The Galaxy Dramatic Club, of this city, which gave such delightful entertainments last fall, winter and spring, commence their second season next Tuesday evening, September 24th, at Armory Hall. The Club has gone into considerable expense in re-modeling the stage and procuring splendid scenery and a beautiful curtain, and the erection of a green room in the rear of the stage, all of which expense the Club earn-estly hopes the people of Ludlow will help them meet by patronizing their efforts to amuse and instruct. It is not the inten-tion of the ladies and gentlemen composing the Galaxy to make any money out of the entertainments they give, for it is love's labor with them, but they do, and ought to expect the most liberal support from the people for their laudable efforts to bring first-class amateur entertainments to their very door during the long, weary months of winter. The following is their programme
